The hombardment of the for: surrounding Antwerp was wan The hombardment of the city it self was not war, though the rules of war seem to have been complied with It was sheer destruct purent. Had the forts been taken and the city still refused to sur-render, its destruction would have been unavoidable. It can hardly have been necessary to shell the town at the same time that the forts were being at-tacked.

The Ottawa Citizen says that the new military compersum at Yaleartier was bought and equip-ped because of the urgene of getting the first contingent off to the front as quickly as possible. The explanation hardly seems to it. If urgeney was the first con-sideration it is strange that the already existing and admittedly suitable ground at Pelevawa was not used. The purchase of a new site and its preparation would seem more fitsely to delay than to expecifie the departure of the contingent.

The Edmonton Dunvegan and British Columbia Railway is being constructed in Dunvegan and British Columbia.

Railway is being constructed under federal charter, therefore all authority in regard to location of the line rested with the Government at Othawa. As located and now practically constructed Suelect Creek is the nearest point on the railway to Grouard. It is of course, we were disconstitute for course, were disconstitute for course. on the railway to Grouard. It is of course, very disappointing to the people of Grouard that their the people of Grouard that their the people of Ground that their town is not on the main line and research the control of the Dunvegan railway. There is reason to believe that the rebellion in South Africa will turn out to be a very serious af-fair—for Col. Maritz and his trailorous associates.

This is splendid weather for ivilling and rifle practice. It is infortunate that the units for he second contingent have not been recruited in time to make use of it.

The councit have decided to have the Rice street market apare seeded down. If the market ke is to be permanently destroyed, that is a good idea. another year.

If a general election is called this fall there will be no escaping the significance. The reason will be that the Government dare not defer the appeal until the end of the war terminates its immunity from criticism—and leaves its attude toward the war and its handling of military matters open to fair public discussion. It a verdict is demanded now it will be only a strategic attempt to "beat the people" by forcing them to pronounce judgment before the evidence has been heard.

The rapidity with which the business of the Province is growing is shown in the statement of estimated resents and expenditures stabled in the Legislature authors tabled in the Legislature author the Province's career—start of the Province's career—start of the Province's rearest part of the Province's rearest part of the Province's Career Start of the Province Start of he members are being asked to $7,775,095. It does not follow, therefore, that the loans authorized by the Leg-islature for next year will really be made. That presumably will depend on the money market and the urgency of the object.
